

"If I Only Had the Money"

WHAT IS YOUR DREAM?

Is it to own your home some better than you?—to buy a farm?—to set up in business for yourself?

Perhaps your own particular dream is not one of these, but whatever it is, you will surely need more money than you have now.

WHAT IS YOUR DREAM?

Is it to give your children a better start in life than you had?—a college training for your boy or girl?

A dream worth dreaming is a dream worth making come true. Dreams come true through saving.

WHAT IS YOUR DREAM?

To own your car?—to be on "Easy Street"?—free from financial and money worries?—to be somebody?—successful and prosperous?

Valve—Well, John, have you ever heard the old saying, "Never ask a question that you can not answer?"

Valve—Spring—Yes. What of it?

Valve—Why don't a general engineer dig his hole and never leave any dirt around the top?

Valve—Spring—I give up. Now, you answer that one.

Valve—Well, you see, he starts at the bottom of the hole and digs his way to the top.

Valve—Spring—How does he get to the bottom of the hole?

Valve—That's your question—I've answered mine.

It is rumored the 24th Infantry is going to move. That sounds like whale (fish), and if the present exhaust keeps up and no intake, the valve will soon stick and the whole regiment can be moved on a flat car.

Nelson Mattison, Jr., the "Oil House Kid," seems to have acquired quite a number of friends since he got his hot 3 and cold 30.

Cylinder No. 1—Say, Pete, what's that stuff that's smelling so bad?

Cylinder No. 2—Vanilla extract.

No. 3—What do you use it for, Pete?

No. 2—Drink it, of course.

No. 4—Fellow, that stuff will choke up your valves and burn your bearings out, too!

"Come on, you miler, and cut this cheese," said Joe Blockburn, the pugilist. "It was pay day for the O. M. C. and those wops cut that cheese and were just steaming up the last of the vice when Joe Brown drove up in a flikey. Poor Joe only had the thickness of a flinty left."

All Metal Airplane To Revolutionize Flying

PARIS, France, July 15.—(Associated Press.)—France, whose steam war aerial forces, in men and materials, has never allowed to disintegrate, is determined to win a big place in commercial aviation. P. E. Fanchin, aviation undersecretary, told the Chamber of Deputies when it voted 200 million francs for civil and military air service.

The development of the all metal airplane, he suggested, is one of the most important things being sought, and he said German attempts along this line "seem to me more dangerous than any clandestine deposits of war materials."

M. Fanchin told of typical flights of other nations, such as the New York to San Francisco race and the American postal routes, and then reported that the Paris-London airplane covered 120,000 miles, carrying 903 passengers on 513 flights during the period from last September 1 to March 1, when winter atmospheric conditions are had. On only 7 per cent of the trips was there more than an hour's delay and only one accident, in which an American passenger was killed.

The progress of aviation during the war, M. Fanchin said, raised airplane flight speed from 78 to 110 miles an hour; lowered the time for reaching altitudes by four-fifths; increased the power limit from 100 to 1000 horsepower; multiplied the carrying capacity by more than six; and quadrupled the flight range.

ONE "GOLFS AND TROLLEYS," OTHER "MULES, GERBANS"

A somewhat smart man, according to a story going the rounds, remarked to a former friend: "Thursday we autted to the country club and muffed till dark, then trolleied to town and danced till morning. The farmer 'got back' in this language: 'T've been having some time myself. Wednesday I muffed down to the cornfield and grubbed till midnight. Then I supposed till dark and played till nine. Then I best-anded till five o'clock, then break-fasted till it was time to go mullin' again.'—Exchange.

$700,000 to Be Spent By Grant Co. on Roads

The state highway commission of New Mexico has awarded the contract for the construction of 15 1/2 miles of road from Fleming draw, on the Murgas, in the Olla river basin, known as Highway Project No. 47, says the River City Independent. The bid of La Brea & Burgess of Palestine, Texas, general road contractors, for $419,300, was accepted by the highway commission.

There were several other bids. This is a joint state and federal road aid project, and when completed will give Grant county a fine highway from River City to Cliff, a distance of 20 miles.

The survey for the stretch of road to be built was made by a party of engineers working under R. R. Johnson, chief field engineer for District Highway Superintendent C. R. Sampson of Las Cruces. The survey is considered a splendid piece of engineering by both Sampson and state Engineer Leslie A. Gilbert.

The work on the Cliff road is the beginning of a program of highway construction in Grant county which during the next three years will entail an expenditure in the aggregate of $700,000 and eventually give this part of the state a system of modern highways that will be the equal of any in the entire Southwest.

This extensive road building program was made possible by the largeness of a Democratic congress, which provides for the appropriation of hundreds of millions of dollars for federal aid to the various states of the Union. The federal road act, passed in 1916, already has resulted in the building of some 10,000 miles of public highways throughout the country.

K. OF P. LODGE WILL PUT ON STUNTS JULY 23

Tongs, upon orders of the Great and Exalted Humpty Dumpty, I command you to choose from this assembly five stalwart men, brave, tried, true and not wanting, to receive the initiation bestowed upon Fresh Eggs. I assure you, ladies and gentlemen, that a great honor is about to be bestowed upon these men, and I want to impress upon you the great solemnity of the occasion.

Let not a single be smothered; let there be the most strict of silence; let great gobs of sinner hang about this sacred chamber like home-cured hams in a Vermont smokehouse.

Of the Chosen Few.

The attendants choose the candidates from the crowd and line them up before Scrambled Eggs.

Hammer (cautious): Most Esteemed Scrambled Eggs, behold the lambs.

Scrambled Eggs: Gentlemen, you are indeed of the chosen few, and should be proud of the preference shown you. May you long remember tonight's lesson and be guided by its teachings. Hammer and Tongs, trick the hopefuls to the warehouse and prepare them for the ordeal. Tongs, with their prongs and bring with you the instruments of death and destruction.

The candidates are marched to the altar to the tune of "Turkey in the Straw." Hammer leading the procession, Tongs bringing up the rear.

With Fear and Trembling.

Tongs returns after candidates are ready, salutes and announces. Tongs: Humble Scrambled Eggs, the candidates await your bidding with fear, trembling and whiskers.

Scrambled Eggs: Heed them before me.

Tongs makes elaborate salute, returns and marches candidates in. They are decorated with little paper eggs, false mustaches and goatees. They march in single file in the locker to a funeral march and take position before Scrambled Eggs.

They are headed by Hammer and followed up by Tongs, who pushes a wheelbarrow in which are prominently displayed a meat axe, a meat saw and several large knives.

On the altar before Scrambled Eggs stands a hollow box containing seven or eight eggs.

Scrambled Eggs: Gents, be seated. In this box behold a few henfruit. When the attendant passes before you, you are instructed to take an egg from the box. Upon this egg there is a number, written thereon by the Exalted Humpty Dumpty in the hour of midnight. This number corresponds to a page in either the Ancient Book of Pollywog or the Antique Book of Bix. The eggs are required to go through in order to become a Fresh Egg is written in one of these enlightening books. You will follow these instructions as read to you, to the letter.

The eggs are then passed by Hammer, who holds them well above the heads of the candidates. As each egg is drawn Scrambled Eggs says:

Scrambled Eggs: Humble candidate, what is the number of your egg?

Book of Pollywog. Candidate answers: Number— Scrambled Eggs: Omelod, read from the Book of Pollywog the ordeal in which the hopeful must submit.

Omelod: By the Book of Pollywog, you are recommended to ruminat the platform and recite the rhyme, "Humpty Dumpty Sat on the Wall."

As soon as candidate does his stunk, he takes his seat, and attendant allows next candidate to choose an egg.

Scrambled Eggs: Candidate, what is your number.

Scrambled Eggs: Humpty Dumpty, read from the Book of Bix the ormelod to which the hopeful must submit.

Hard Boiled: On page — of the Book of Bix, are the following orders (reading):

Procedure will be carried out as above, with different stunts for candidates to do, until the fifth man is reached.

As attendant passes in front of fifth man, presumably to allow him to choose an egg, he accidentally lets fall all the remaining eggs from the shallow box into candidate's lap. However, as the eggs are precisely hard boiled, no harm is done.
